- What does ‘pre-committing’ mean?

If you live in Philadelphia, you can go online and register that you want to get a COVID-19 vaccine. Pre-committing is not a requirement to get vaccinated in the city. However, the Philadelphia Department of Public Health encourages all residents to do so.

To be clear, this won’t actually schedule you for a future vaccination appointment. But it will help you stay better informed.

But if you live in Philly, you can now “pre-commit” to receiving a COVID-19 vaccine and become among the first to know when it’s your turn to get vaccinated.
